

CITE MAP

Semester: Fall/2019

Description:

A simple welcome page, with a slider showing some pictures of New York City (where I am from), with a picture of me and a short brief description about me and who I am.

A gallery page with a small tile of my past projects and a small description of them to the right

A PSA page, showing off the beauty of New York city and all the great that it has brought over the past 300 years, as well as a link to NYCares a NPO dedicated to creating a better city

A bio page, giving a more detailed description of who I am, What I like to do, my aspirations for the future, and what I've recently been up to.

And pad decaticed to a pdf version of a cite map for the website

Arrows show the possible path you can take from the page you are currently on to any other page, The link to the page you are currently on will disappear and only show pages that you can visit (NOT THE PAGE YOU ARE CURENTLY ONE)
